Membership Committee Reports 39 New Members at First Meeting of Year—Committees Appointed For This Year—Sister Benedictine Thanks Members for Their Work.

The first regular meeting of the year of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital was held Wednesday afternoon at the nurses' home of the Benedictine. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Joan D. Goldrick, the vice-president, Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy presided. The meeting was unusually large and the members responded most enthusiastically to the many and varied plans submitted for the coming year.

The membership committee reported 39 new members.

The Auxiliary gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Edward Kelley and her committee for the work done in so beautifully decorating the Hospital for the Christmas holidays. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Frank Ditch for the card party given at her home for the benefit of the Auxiliary.

Announcement was made of the Auxiliary card party to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on the afternoon of January 23. Mrs. Hayes, chairman, reported that plans for the party were progressing very satisfactorily.

Sister Benedictine, superintendent of the hospital, expressed her appreciation for the response to her request for a large attendance at this reorganization meeting. She spoke very inspiringly of the work planned and stressed most emphatically the need of cooperation and unity in all endeavors of the various committees of the Auxiliary.

Sister Benedictine told of the real Christmas cheer given the patients by the Schubert Choral Club. St. Mary's choir and the Priests Choir of St. Alphonsus when they visited the hospital at Christmas time and sang Christmas carols.

The Very Rev. Dean Scully commended the women for the interest in the hospital work and spoke very encouragingly of what great good might be performed by an Auxiliary such as this. Father Scully, in a very interesting talk on hospital work, the aims and needs, added that Kingston might well be proud of its three hospitals; the Benedictine, upon which nothing has been spared to make it one of the finest, up to date hospitals; the one now in process of reconstruction, and the one which is doing special work in psychiatry, neurosis and mental therapy.

At the conclusion of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed in the reception room of the nurses' home, which was artistically decorated with Christmas greens and boasted of a large Christmas tree. Delicious refreshments were served.

Continued Probe Of S-4 Tragedy

Boston, Jan. 3 (AP)—The navy's investigation of the S-4 disaster, which opened yesterday at Boston navy yard, was resumed at 9 a. m. today.

Lieutenant Frank L. Worden, commander of the S-4, sister ship of the S-3, who was examined at length yesterday as to the construction and operation of the S type vessels, continued his testimony.

Studying the probable positions of the submarine and the coast guard destroyer Paulding, which rammed and sank the S-4 off Provincetown December 17, Lieutenant Worden said it was indicated that one of the buoys marking the measured mile course over which the S-4 was operating submerged might have drifted 100 to 150 yards to the southward.

Taking into account the probable directions of the two vessels the witnesses said the Paulding might possibly have been sighted by the S-4 through its periscope at a distance of about 4,400 yards.

The Paulding, on the other hand, would not have been able to see the periscope of the submarine more than 1,000 to 1,500 yards, and then "only of the lookout knew what he was looking for."

Alcoholism Kills 770 in N. Y. City

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Chronic alcoholism caused the death of 770 persons in New York city last year, the highest death rate in 13 years, figures made public today by Health Commissioner Harris showed.

A gradual rise in the alcoholic death rate, started in 1924 when the deaths totaled 51, in 1925 the total was 62 and in 1926, 759. From 1918 to 1920 deaths from alcoholism had fallen off, he said, the total in the latter year being 28. The rise since then has been steady.

Statistics in the health department have figured that in 1927 13 persons per 100,000 died of alcoholism. Harris said the deaths mostly were due to long continued or chronic drinking.

Rescue Three Bodies from S-4

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—The three men taken out of the submarine S-4 have been identified by fingerprint experts of the bureau of navigation as Lieutenant Commander R. K. Jones, Lieutenant Joseph McGinley and Chief Machinist's Mate Aron Albert Hodges.

Jones, the commander of the vessel, lived at Halthershorpe, Md., but his parents reside at Hennessey, Okla. McGinley's home was in Norristown, Pa., and Hodges lived at Riverdale, Cal.

The navy department has sent out wreaths to the next of kin of each.

Ossining Hotel Fire Fatal to 3

Westkora Hotel Fire Believed To Have Been of Incendiary Origin—Bodies of Two Men And a Woman Recovered.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—The bodies of two men and a woman were recovered today from the ruins of the historic Westkora Hotel, destroyed by fire believed to have been of incendiary origin.

The victims were unofficially identified as Albrecht a waiter, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert McKenna. The McKennas were said to be well known in Syracuse, N. Y., and Bridgeport, Conn., but it was not known which of those cities was their home.

The hotel register was lost in the fire and a definite check on the number of guests was not possible. Charles Fleisch, owner of the hotel, said he believed all other persons in the building escaped.

McKenna, Fleisch said, had described himself vaguely as an officer of the law in Bridgeport. He was not certain whether he still held that post or whether he had relinquished it. He also heard that McKenna was a traveling salesman, and understood that the couple had a nine year old child.

Albrecht, Fleisch said, had aroused other occupants of the hotel after Mrs. Fleisch discovered the fire. These ran to safety on an upper porch when firemen rescued them, but Albrecht ran back into the building toward his room. His body was recovered in a corridor on the second floor. The bodies of the McKennas were taken from the third floor, near their room.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, medical examiner, asked an investigation of the blaze by the district attorney, who was to come here today.

Police said they had been informed by a negro that he had seen a man running from the vicinity of the hotel fire a few moments before the alarm was sounded. The fire was the fifth in the building in six months.

Not Known In Syracuse.
Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—A preliminary check up of the city and telephone directories here failed to show that Mr. and Mrs. Albert McKenna, believed to have lost their lives in a hotel fire today at Ossining, N. Y., were residents of this city.

Six families by the name of McKenna listed in the telephone directory declared that they knew of no Albert McKenna here.

Mass Meeting of Church Laymen

A monster gathering of church laymen is one of the big events for the month. St. James M. E. Church will be the meeting place and the time has been set for Sunday, January 15, at 3 p. m.

All Protestant Churches in Kingston and vicinity are cooperating. The chief feature of the meeting will be an address by E. Dow Bancroft of Chicago. By those who have heard him he has been described as "an outstanding church layman of national reputation as a platform orator."

Mr. Bancroft is a layman himself and sees, thinks and talks from the layman's viewpoint. He makes a strong appeal equally to men of all classes. Governors, federal judges, corporation executives and others all acclaim Mr. Bancroft as one of the outstanding characters of the day along this line. On numerous occasions Mr. Bancroft has appeared on the speaker's platform along with many of the prominent ministers of the national reputation and every time he has left an impression more lasting and more pleasing upon the audience. Kingston is indeed fortunate in having such a man of first importance at this time. Mr. Bancroft does not resort to emotionalism but his appeal is merely of the "straight from the shoulder" variety. He uses logic and clear reasoning rather than cheap sensationalism.

Friday evening, January 6, at 7:30 p. m., at the Governor Clinton Hotel, there will be a meeting of the inter-church committee at which it is hoped every church will be represented. The meeting is for the purpose of completing arrangements for the mass meeting on January 15.

At the Silver Moon Athletic Club Robert Abgrin, 28, and John Rowan, 29, who said they were making their maiden venture with masks and pistols, found a bullet reception awaiting them from Patrolman Jeremiah Mahoney. Abgrin surrendered under Mahoney's fire, and Rowan was taken later after he had jumped from a window. They said they were without work and had families to support.

Republic Founded Last Fight for Gray and Widow Before Governor

Indicted Governor Will Render Decision Monday—Declares All Persons Who Commit Crime Abnormal—Lawyers Plea For Reprieve.

State Capitol, Albany, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—For two hours today lawyers made a last fight before Governor Smith for the lives of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, under sentence to die in the electric chair a week from today.

When the lawyers were through the governor merely said "well, the hearing is over" and walked out of the room. It was understood that he would render a decision on Monday.

Governor Smith interrupted during the hearing to ask what testimony there had been concerning Gray's mental condition.

Millard said the question was not raised at the trial because the lawyers had in mind the legal definition of sanity. He was not legally insane. But neither is a typhoid patient whose mind is wandering. We assert that Gray could distinguish between right and wrong but could not regulate his actions accordingly.

"I don't see that there is any question of sanity here," said the governor, "why by your argument any one who wanted to do a murder would just have to do some other foolish things first and get off clean."

"Now there's this twilight zone you speak of. Why didn't you put something about that before the jury?" Millard said it would have been futile as a jury could only reach a verdict according to law, and no mental twilight zone was recognized by law.

Argument grew warm as the governor tilted verbally with both Millard and Hazelton about mental states.

"Why," the governor said, "when you come right down to it there is something abnormal about everyone who commits a crime."

Hazelton expressed sympathy for the governor because of his responsibility in having to decide whether a man and woman must die. He briefly reviewed the legal aspects of the case and pictured his client as a perfect wife and mother before she met Gray.

In accordance with custom neither Mrs. Snyder nor Gray themselves were present. They waited the outcome in their Sing Sing cells, which at present they are scheduled to leave a week from tonight, only to pay in the death chamber the extreme penalty for their murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband.

Suffered Sunstroke.
Hazelton said that in early childhood Mrs. Snyder suffered from a serious sunstroke and a serious fall. "This was concealed from me," he said, "until recently, but now I have found that these events overshadowed her whole life. She was after that subject to moments of great joy and great depression. She was subject to attacks of epilepsy or perhaps some strange borderland malady of the mind."

"I am advised by psychiatrists that she is in a twilight zone of limited responsibility."

At this point Mrs. Brown began to weep quietly and dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief.

Hazelton said that because Mrs. Snyder was living in a twilight zone at the time of the murder she should not be held responsible, although legally she was sane.

He charged that the legal standards of sanity had been outmoded developments of science and that full account should be taken of what he called "the new psychiatry."

Hazelton said he had been advised by practitioners of modern mental ailments that both Gray and Snyder, while legally sane, were both "borderline cases."

"Besides all that," he said, "capital punishment is on the wane, in a few years it will be gone altogether. Must the letter of this outmoded law now send this man and woman to their death?"

Hazelton acknowledged that all his argument was based on extra legal matters, that by the law his client must die.

"I base my plea," he said, "on mental conditions which are fact although not yet recognized by lunacy commissions, and of sympathy, which the law may not know but which we, as men, may well take into account."

At this point Mrs. Isabelle Gray, Judd's mother, entered the room and was given a seat.

30 Day Reprieve.
"I am for this woman," Hazelton said, "to your heart and to your mind. He made clear that he was not commutation at this time but a thirty day reprieve so that doctors might further study Mrs. Snyder's mind."

Dana Wallace, Hazelton's associate, then spoke. He recalled that at the trial it had been almost impossible to get a jury because the feeling against capital punishment was so great.

Wallace said that the trial was conducted on the theory that Gray was dominated by Mrs. Snyder. "It is quite plain, now," he said, "that she may not have the sort of mind that could dominate anyone. Perhaps it was just a case of two people, neither of whom had a strong responsible mind."

When Wallace finished District Attorney Newcombe announced that he had no reply to make.

"We will then lay this case aside for Smith next week,"

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

(© 1927 Western Newspaper Union)

"Come, gloves, let's have an assembly," commanded Dame Fashion. "We'll call the roll, and you shall all come to me and account for yourselves. We won't try to call you on a rating of what you may cost, but just call you as we happen to do it."

"Everybody is purchasing me!" shouted a whole group of chamoisette gloves. It wasn't much wonder, for they were "allpans" or, if you wish to seem more elegant, they were Biarritz fashion—name to bring to mind at once the continent's most fashionable seaside resort, beloved of kings and queens. They are "saddle-gloves"—do you know those nice flat, visible stitches that seem so proper on leather? And they have the English Bolton thumb, with a never-tearing inset piece that goes in and out and round about the base of the thumb.

"French gloves," called Dame Fashion, and a whole beautiful throng appeared at once, delicate in shade and turn-back cuff or embroidered cuff rich with color in design of silk, or color applied to the leather or genuine insets of pieces of colored leather. Black gloves have effective decorations also, but the throng of them was not so great in the black as in the more fancy light shades.

"Come, all you nice 'animals' called Dame Fashion. And what a number appeared! There were cape-skin gloves, all perfectly able to be washed, in such serene elegance; there were deerskin gloves; there were wonderful pigskin gloves, ready to stand wear and tear of much motor-vehicle use, and amazingly aristocratic in appearance, with lines of pretty perforations along both the backs of the gloves and the back of the fingers. Now a "cape" is a goat, you know, and there are plenty of "capes" not planned to be washable, and all adorned with colored leather belts and metal buckles or gay wrist effects.

"Worsted next!" was the next call made. The Dame exclaimed indeed, for the "collegiate wools" which were first set in fashion at the state universities are the most fetching gloves in some ways on the horizon. They are well-shaped, have outside stitching and are made of the most delicious hazy plaits and figures. Impossible to describe them, but they certainly have class.

"Silk gone," sadly remarked Dame Fashion. But no indeed. Up rose promptly a group of silk gloves of quiet shades, in black, tan and gray. "It's cold," shivered Dame Fashion. "Are you comfortable?" indignantly they replied in chorus:

"I should say we are warm; we are about the warmest gloves to be found, for we have chamoisette inside. Why, we are marvelous, and can almost cure rheumatism!"

This so overpowered Dame Fashion that she promptly dismissed the assembly.

Afternoon Coat Is of Chinchilla and Velvet

This charming afternoon coat of chinchilla and velvet is worn by a prominent "movie" actress who is her most flapperish self in the handsome wrap with cutaway skirt, which emphasizes the brevity of the coat. A felt hat, trimmed with rhinestone ornament, is featured with it.

Fringe Predominates

Tiers of shaded fringes, falling in scallops, are noticeable on several new frocks, and the new rogue for back drapery is given expression in some cases by a long line of fringe extending from neckline to hem. Boleros of fringe also are seen, the silk threads being kept in place by a trelis work of rhinestones.

His Honor Fuzzles

We know well enough what he meant, but what the new country magistrate actually said in the address was: "So long as I am on the bench you can rely upon me always tampering with justice and mercy."—Boston Transcript.

Reception to New Ladies' Auxiliary Lutheran Pastor Gains Members

A reception was held Tuesday night by Redeemer Lutheran congregation in honor of its new pastor, the Rev. O. E. Brandt, and family. George L. Snyder acted as chairman. After the singing of the hymn "The Church's One Foundation," Dr. Seeley, of the Fair Street Reformed Church, led in prayer. Miss Mildred Messinger, a member of the church, sang a group of three contralto solos: (a) "Morning on the Bayou," (b) "Thou Art the Night Wind," (c) "The Great Awakening." The choir of Redeemer Church then sang "Tis Morn," accompanied by the organist, Prof. P. Richens.

An address was delivered by Dr. Seeley in which he pointed out the value of the Christian church to society. A soprano solo, "A Song of Thanksgiving," was sung by Miss Ethel Schlecht of Redeemer church. Harry H. Flemming also spoke, urging the congregation to recognize the leadership of its pastor in order that the work of the church may be properly carried on.

"America" was sung, after which the new pastor, the Rev. Mr. Brandt, was called upon to speak. In his remarks to the congregation he stressed the value of mutual understanding between pastor and congregation, which must be based upon mutual faith in each other.

The program was closed with a selection by the choir, "Gentle Sighs the Breeze." Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid.

Eighteen years ago Wednesday Superintendent Edmonston assumed his duties as superintendent of the charity board, and has proven one of the most efficient men ever in charge of the institution.

The board elected Dr. Fred Huhne as city physician of the eastern department, and Dr. John G. O'Leary as city physician of the western department. Both will be paid at the rate of $600 per annum.

President Lang was empowered to renew the contracts with the Kingston City Hospital and the Benedictine Hospital for the care of all city cases during 1928.

At present there are 54 inmates at the City Home of which number 31 are males and 23 females.

"PUBLICITY MADNESS" AT BROADWAY THEATRE

Anita Loos, who wrote "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," has written the story, "Publicity Madness," being screened today and the remainder of the week at the Broadway Theatre. The picture stars Edmund Lowe and Lois Moran and is said to be a hilarious satire on modern business. Edmund Lowe plays the part of the breezy soap salesman whose advertising schemes make over an almost defunct soap works, while Lois Moran portrays the daughter of the owner of the plant.

One significant fact to remember is that all criminals are not native-born Americans.

Stops that Tough Hang-On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For ordinary coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those obstinate, old timers, that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you're got to have a REAL cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion for the harder and tougher, and tighter they come the more for Broncholine gets in knocking them out.

Broncholine isn't a cheap cough conquerer, mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the raw sore membrane.

Often three or four doses bring blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn, die-hard cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Broncholine Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Broncholine.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask McBride's Drug Stores or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Broncholine Emulsion.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Park Shows a Marked Preference for Pink and Blue for Bandolier Wear. Also for Flesh Color With Black for Afternoon Dresses.

Paris—There is infinite variety in negligees from which to choose just now. As is usually the case, many robes in time have a strong Oriental flavor, and many are cut en culotte or with Turkish trousers.

The quilted crepe or satin robe continues to appeal to those who are more insistent on comfort than novelty, and there are some models of beautifully designed silks, prints, and the like, as well as in printed velvets, that are on old familiar kimono lines, a type of negligee that has not been much in evidence for a decade.

One senses that the prime requisite in selecting a negligee is that it be interesting, decorative in the extreme, and capable of creating an impression of extravagance, if it is not actually so. Also that any given line, provided that it is graceful, will do. Indeed, it is often not easy to distinguish between a luxurious negligee, especially when of velvet or metal brocade, and the average evening wrap.

While one's negligee may be of any and all colors, to say nothing of black, the chic Parisienne continues to regard all shades of rose and pink as the border color de luxe. Women of Paris carry a preference for pale pink, or flesh, further and use it in combination with navy or black for street wear, for gilets, collars, and touches that were formerly given by white or cream lace, or tucked or ruffled or chiffon. Flesh is obviously softer and therefore more easily worn.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A New Doll.

5029. Dolls of this kind will delight little children. In this model the Doll as well as the garments are supplied. A simple waist, and Dutch Rompers make the suit, to which a Cap is added. One could use crepe or silk for the waist and velvet for the Cap and Rompers, or unbleached muslin for the waist, and chambray or gingham for cap and rompers. The pattern is cut in six sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 22 inches in length. A 16-inch size requires 1/2 yard of 36-inch material for the Doll, which may be made of oilcloth, drill, unbleached muslin or gingham. The Rompers and Waist and Cap require 1/4 yard if made of one material. To make the Waist and the Cap trim of contrasting material requires 1/4 yard. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

FOOD FOR WINTER DAYS

During the chilly early winter days it is wise to have a stock pot on hand, so that hot soups may be a daily food. A most delicious meal, if the evening meal is light, is begun with some sort of hot soup, cream of stock or vegetable.

Chicken Warmers.—This is a good cold weather dish. Stew a nice fat fowl in plenty of water to make broth. When the fowl is cooked remove it and cut all the meat from the bones. In the broth cook two or three bunches of celery cut into small pieces; when cooked remove the celery and add noodles, cook them until done, and with all the other things kept hot, serve a nest of cooked noodles on the dinner plate, cover chicken and celery with gravy and serve with mashed potatoes. Save enough of tender hearts of celery and some of the white meat of the chicken for chicken salad. The broth that is left may be served by adding cream and egg, making a most nourishing soup for the night meal, a day or two later.

Cranberry Ice.—Cook a quart of cranberries in a pint of water six minutes. Strain through a cheesecloth, add a pint of sugar and stir until dissolved. When cool add the juice of two lemons and freeze to a mush. This will serve a dozen.

Chicken and Green Pepper Sandwiches.—Parboil for ten minutes green pepper with seeds and fiber removed. Chop fine and mix with one cupful of cooked seasoned chicken, moisten with mayonnaise. Spread thinly sliced rye bread with butter, using lettuce and the filling.

Pressed Corn Beef Sandwiches.—Cook corn beef until it falls in shreds. Drain and arrange the shreds lengthwise with some of the fat in a small bread pan. Reduce the liquor in which the meat was cooked to one and one-half cups, pour over the meat, place a weight on it and let stand overnight. Unmold and slice in thin slices. Use as sandwich filling with slices of Spanish onion dipped in French dressing.

Over $70,000,000 Given By American Jewry In Ten Years For Foreign Relief

OVER $70,000,000, every dollar of it contributed by the Jews of America, have been expended in 40 countries and territories in Europe, Asia and Africa since 1914 for the amelioration and constructive relief of the millions of their coreligionists who have, in practically every part of those three continents, been trapped since the World War in an abyss of disaster, economic and spiritual ruin.

This colossal sum of money, said to be the largest ever given for any humanitarian cause in the history of civilization, was raised in a series of campaigns, the most spectacular and successful of which is the $25,000,000 United Jewish Campaign, which was launched in September 1922, under the leadership of David A. Brown, of Detroit, who has given his services in a completely voluntary capacity.

The expenditures are supervised by the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, of which Felix M. Warburg, noted New York banker, has been the chairman since its inception 13 years ago. Beginning with feeding the hungry, healing the sick, sheltering and protecting the widowed and orphaned, the ministrations of the Joint Distribution Committee have progressively developed along the lines of social constructive service as the world has slowly returned to normalcy. The constructive relief measures are under the general direction of Dr. Bernhard Kahn, European Director of the Joint Distribution Committee, with headquarters in Berlin.

A remarkable development of the constructive relief efforts of the Joint Distribution Committee is in Russia, where, under the guidance of Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, famous American agricultural scientist, 25,000 Jewish families have been successfully settled within the last three years as farmers on land allocated for that purpose by the government.

A minimum of $7,500,000 in cash is required before December 31, 1922 to carry out the constructive program of the Joint Distribution Committee. Mr. Brown is remobilizing the thousands of volunteers of the United Jewish Campaign to secure this and even a

ROSENDALE GRANGE WILL INITIATE 21 MEMBERS.

At the last meeting of the Rosendale Grange a pleasant surprise awaited the members. A fine Christmas tree with electric lights, suitably ornamented with gifts for each member afforded much merriment with Worthy Lecturer Mrs. Merriew in charge. Christmas carols were sung throughout the evening. There was also music and dancing and refreshments of coffee, cake and ice cream were served. On Monday, January 9, the next meeting, twenty-one new members having been accepted, will present themselves for initiation, and it is earnestly requested that all members will be present. Representatives from Stone Ridge Grange will be there to participate in the ceremonies.

REYNOLDS' RECOLLECTIONS

The New York-Albany State Road is Centuries Old

Redskins: At one time the mention of them was probably cause for alarm but to them we are indebted for the great New York-Albany State Road. It was their sure and knowing moccasined feet that picked the original trail along the east shore of the river. Wisely accepting the Indians' word for it, the white man, first on horseback and then with wagons and carts, made his way along this trail. The three-foot path developed into a road—into an established route for the stage coaches. From heavy usage the road bed wore down a foot or more. This depression can still be seen in many places.

In the eighteenth century this road was known as the King's Highway and later as the Highland Turnpike. Today this path by the water is the New York-Albany State Road with automobiles making water distance within an hour than the early pioneers made in a day.

Since 1819 the House of Reynolds at Poughkeepsie has been a part of this development. Step by step the House of Reynolds has advanced with the community. For more than one hundred years it has served the people here the best and greatest choice of food.

RADIO CHEERS PRISON LIFE

Violations of Honor System
Reduced to Minimum
Since Installation.

Fort Madison, Iowa.—This little city, which has been dubbed the most average town in the United States through the residence here of Roy L. Gray, "the most average man," disputes the title where its penitentiary is concerned, and all because of the innovation in radio entertainment which the prisoners enjoy.

Warden T. P. Hollowell, veteran of the World war, believes that there may be something after all in this tendency to prisoners' idea, and consequently has allowed the installation of a radio receiving set for the prisoners of the institution and has decided that it worked so well that he has now installed radio sets at all the prison farms in the vicinity of Fort Madison to keep the prisoners from walking away, as many of them do from loneliness after the day's work is done.

Keeps Them Entertained.
"The radio keeps them entertained and keeps their thoughts from dwelling on the joys that apparently lie over the hill," Hollowell explained. "With an honor and parole system in vogue there is only one way in the world to keep prisoners from taking 'French leave' and that is to keep them contented."

Two inmates of the institution were responsible for the installment of the set originally. They were Andrew Bowers and Arthur Reed, short-time inmates, who conceived the idea of building a single circuit for all the prisoners in the institution. Hollowell said the idea was O. K. if the noise did not interfere with the prison rules about silence.

After some experimenting the two established a circuit through one wall house into which all the men who cared to buy earphones could listen nightly. One of the big problems was to make the circuit fool-proof, for the men would stick matches, pins and other articles into the holes in the plugs and short-circuit the whole affair.

This trouble was remedied and the night the first concert was received the inmates could scarcely keep from shouting their hilarity. Old men who had been in the prison for years and knew only of radio through newspapers listened with tears in their eyes and spoke in awed whispers of its wonders. Concerts, grand opera, prize-fights, baseball games and all the rest of radio entertainment came to cheer the drabness of their lives, and men who formerly passed their evenings sleeping, reading, writing letters or watching interesting subjects on television at the prison, now sit to listen with their heads pressed against the bars.

Silence Rule Enforced.
The silence rule is strictly followed, although the prisoners guard silence especially when a prizefight is on the air, and the excitement throughout the big cell houses among the hundreds of listeners is at a fever heat.

Warden Hollowell has been well rewarded for the permission to allow radio, for in it he has found one of the best methods of enforcing discipline since he has been in office, for the threat of taking away his headphones compels the most unmanageable of prisoners. Only one man has lost his phones and then for only a short time. He insisted on trying to make a loud speaker out of them. As an explanation he said he had read somewhere of a man who had gotten into his ears from using headphones too much and he was merely trying to protect himself.

Indians Use the Gobble; Maybe They'd Buy Squeal

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Pardoned prisoners, proud of their ability to gobble like a turkey, will do well to exercise their gift with caution among Indians of Oklahoma.

The gobble has a definite place in the language of several Oklahoma tribes as a challenge or threat. A Cherokee Indian was cleared of a murder charge several months ago after witnesses testified that the man he slew had gobbled at him.

Linguists explain that the languages of some primitive people are so guttural that the speech is transformed into gobbling when the speakers are excited or angry. The gobble, however, may be interpreted as anything from a challenge to a foreshadowing of a threat of death, says Peter Hudson, full-blooded Choctaw and historian of his tribe.

War's Evil Results

As long as nations meet on the fields of war—as long as they sustain the relations of savages to each other—as long as they put the laurel and the oak on the brows of those who kill—just so long will citizens resort to violence, and the quarrels be settled by dagger and revolver.—Robert G. Ingersoll.

Energy, Where Does It Go?

For instance, set a wound-up clock spring in acid, and the spring will be eaten up. But what of the energy? The energy isn't destroyed. As the spring is eaten away, the energy which was put into the spring by winding it up is gradually dissipated. Scientists say it takes the form of heat, which would be absorbed by the acid.—Grit.

Match's Origin

The first friction matches were the invention of M. Derosne, a Frenchman, and were first used in 1826, but were little used outside of France until 1827, when John Walker (no relative of the famous Johnny Walker of the ante-Velstead days), an English druggist, made the first really practical friction matches, which were known as "Congreets," and within a few years their use spread all over Europe and America, supplanting the use of flint and steel with tinder box and sulphur tipped splints of wood called sprunks which were the common means of obtaining fire until Walker's invention was popularized.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulder down under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has faded. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unusually simple. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy, its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color, 15c, 30c, 60c.

What Kind of Man Can a Girl Trust?

A BOY and a girl stand in a softly scented garden under a summer moon. To him, she is the most beautiful girl in the world. Her starry eyes, the delicate perfume of her hair, the soft touch of her hand, stir within him long-pent emotions—emotions he has never dared to express.

"I—I love you," he falters clumsily. "I want you to—to be my—wife."

She is silent for a time; and when she raises her head, he sees that her eyes are wet with tears.

"I'm sorry, Joe," she murmurs. "You don't know how I hate to hurt you. But there is another boy I love—Harry White. He lives in Poplarville. We are engaged. You can see, now, why I can't marry you."

At first dazed, uncomprehending—he feels suddenly sick and old. That name, hammering on his brain—it is impossible—and yet—

Two men are seated on a bench in Poplarville. An attractive, finely built, snappily dressed youth passes by.

Says one of the men, following the youth with his eyes:

"I'm not telling all I know; but if I had a daughter, I'd see to it that she didn't go spooning in the dark with that fellow, Harry White."

Later—a dance hall in Poplarville. Joe, lonely, despairing, his heart starved for a love that has been denied, lurks in the shadows outside the door, and in the sound of the music seeks forgetfulness.

Suddenly from a closed sedan nearby comes a girl's shrill cry.

The door is flung open; the girl attempts to descend, struggling to free herself from a man's detaining hands. She is a stranger to Joe—but her assailant is not. In the glow of the street lamp, he recognizes Harry White's rage-distorted face.

Grim-lipped, eyes blazing, Joe leaps toward the car—tries to grapple with White—and is sent reeling from a smashing blow in the face.

Thus begins this terrific real-life drama of savage hate and overwhelming love. As the lightning bolt voices the fury of the approaching hurricane, so the blows struck in this first terrible encounter merely clear the field for action in the mighty struggle to come.

But it is to be a struggle that transcends the clash of mere physical forces. It becomes a herculean battle for a woman's soul—a battle in which devotion, self-sacrifice and the invincible power of true love are matched against treachery, cunning and cowardice.

This stirring story, entitled "The Supreme Test of a Man's Devotion," appears complete in the February issue of True Story Magazine. It is a heart-gripping narrative of real life that no man or woman will want to miss.

News From the World on Wheels

After eighteen months of development work, Dodge Brothers, Inc., has officially announced the Victory Six, a passenger car containing a number of marked innovations. It is long and low in appearance, capable of sustained high speeds, and is priced from $1,045 to $1,170; the standard sedan selling at $1,095 f. o. b. Detroit. Plans for 1928 at Dodge Brothers include the continuation of the Standard Four, equipped with 4-wheel brakes and priced at $875 for the sedan, and the Senior Six, priced at $1,595 for the sedan, in addition to the Victory Six. The Graham Brothers truck division, which has just completed the most prosperous year in its history, will continue to build commercial cars and trucks of five capacities: 2-ton, 1½-ton, 1-ton, ¾-ton and ½-ton. Tentative schedules for the year indicate that nearly three-fourths of Dodge Brothers passenger car production will consist of Victory models including a coupe at $1,045, a coupe with rumble seat at $1,095, a sedan at $1,095, de luxe sedan at $1,170, and a de luxe brougham at $1,170.

Algerian Drug That Stimulates the Brain

Keef is the dried flower of the hemp plant chopped up and smoked like tobacco, rolled in a cigarette or in the form of a small pipe. In a different form it is the basis of the hashish, which is rarely seen in Algeria, but very common in the Near East. The effect of keef on the smoker is to make him practically independent of food and sleep as long as he is under its influence, and a habitual keef taker is easy to detect. His eyes are very bright, his face is pale and drawn, his arms and hands are terribly thin, his movements are restless. At the same time he is not at all dazed, like one under the influence of a drug, and though after a few days' smoking he will drift off into a kind of feverish sleep, during the early periods he is extraordinarily lucid. In fact, it is said that the first effects of keef are to make the brain work at three times its normal pace.

European tourists in the South occasionally get hold of some keef to smoke and complain that it has had no effect at all beyond giving them a sore throat. This is quite normal, as the fact of smoking a little hemp in a pipe or cigarette will hurt no one if not continued. To feel the effect of keef one must smoke for at least one night through, and three days are necessary to get really poisoned. The danger of an experiment of this kind is that the desire to go on may seize one, and once keef has taken hold of a man it is rare to see him give it up. However, it is quite amusing to go to a keef-smoking den, all the more so as it has to be done in secret and with the connivance of a smoker, as no outsiders know where these little nocturnal reunions take place.—From "Algeria From Within" by R. V. C. Bailey.

Getting Ready for GOP Convention

Kansas City Faces Big Task of Entertaining National Republican Convention in June—Members of Committee Who Will Help.

Kansas City, Jan. 3.—The task of entertaining a national convention in June will require the attention of a host of people in Kansas City and a substantial amount of money from the city and its citizens.

A group of six national committee members and three committee members has the responsibility for securing most of the work in connection with the convention.

David W. Mulvane of Kansas, chairman of this subcommittee, will have these tasks in the first of his experience in launching the Cleveland convention in 1924. From now until the opening of the big show on June 12 he will give constant attention to arrangements at Convention hall and also at the hotel which will serve as headquarters for the national committee.

Mulvane, born in Tippecanoe, some 60 miles from Kansas City, and therefore he will not be compelled to do so much traveling as he did while arranging for the 1924 convention.

William M. Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the national committee, will help launch the arrangements.

Besides Mulvane, the members of the subcommittee on arrangements are Charles D. Hillis of New York, Ray Williams of Oregon, R. B. Greager of Texas, William H.

After enjoying a spectacularly successful career, Pontiac Six now bids for even greater success with a car greater in every way.

Emphasizing the importance of this announcement are two entirely new and additional body types: the Four-door Sedan and the Sport Landau Sedan, a close-coupled, swagger creation, exemplifying the highest art of Fisher closed body craftsmanship. One way to read character is to judge a person by what he considers funny or humorous.

A great many people who wouldn't think of eating a grasshopper, drink cider made from wormy apples and think it is fine.

Give a sentence with the word INDIFFERENT. "Every night when I get home late, I have to go indifferently."

Character is what you are, reputation is what the neighbors sometimes knock into a cocked hat.

There are no ex-bootleggers.

Teacher: "If I have fifty dollars and coal costs ten dollars a ton, how much coal can I buy?"
Kid: "Four tons."
Teacher: "That's not right."
Kid: "I know it, but they get away with it."

Ardent suitor: "This ring I offer you is a symbol of the love I bear for you. It has no end!"
Haughty Damsel: "It is also a symbol of the love I bear for you. It has no beginning."

Poor Little Orphan Girl.
Oh, poor little orphan girl at play,
Do you ever pause in your pleasure to think
How sad you are bound to feel some day,
With no mother to teach you to smoke and drink.

"Ma, you were wrong about the wedding," bawled little Tommy, his mother having come in late.
"What do you mean?"
"You said Mr. Flubdub was going into it blindfolded, but he didn't."

Everybody loves a good listener.
The house was full of chilliness.
If sure raised mother's ire.
"Cause every time that pop went out,
So did the furnace fire.

The embarrassment of having a reputation is that "Babe" Ruth is expected to make a home run every time he comes to the bat. Vice President Dawes is expected to cuss every time he makes a speech and every column of The Office Cat is expected to be better than the previous one.

League Contract
Upheld by Court

Rochester, Jan. 5.—Contention of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc. that it is entitled to collect damages from its members when they violate their membership contract by refusing to deliver milk is upheld in a decision just handed down by the appellate division Fourth department.

The decision is on appeals by both plaintiff and defendant in the case of David G. Parker of Mt. Upton, Chenango county, vs. Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc. Parker, a member of the association, stopped delivering milk to its plant August 1, 1926. The league withheld $503 due him for his July milk, this being held under a provision of the membership contract providing that as a penalty for violation, Parker brought suit to recover this sum plus deductions made in April, May and June for certificates of indebtedness. The league set up a counter claim asking damages on the basis of $10 per cow for the first month of violation and $3 for each succeeding month, these damages also being fixed by a clause of the contract.

The trial court upheld the league's claim that Parker was bound by its contract and not entitled to recover. Now the appellate division decision also holds that Parker had breached his contract and was not entitled to recover. This decision is regarded as highly important not only to the Dairymen's League, but to all farmer cooperative organizations because it establishes a precedent as to member responsibility.

Announcing The VICTORY SIX
BY DODGE BROTHERS

The Victory is radically new, radically different and thoroughly original—is literally years ahead of its time in many vital features.

It compares with no other car or class, because NO car, either here or abroad, provides features that are comparable. To enjoy these advantages you must buy THIS car, for elsewhere they simply do not exist.

Revolutionary New Principles of Design

1. For the first time since the invention of the automobile, the chassis and body of The Victory are a single integral unit—the wide, deep Victory chassis frame, flush with the lines of the body, replaces the customary body sills. (Heretofore, the body was mounted on a sill and both in turn mounted on the chassis.)

2. For the first time in history, battle-ship construction (i. e., double steel walls) is here applied to the motor car.

Spectacular Performance

The results of these, and other basic innovations are astonishing in their effect on every phase of motor car value; beauty, comfort, safety, strength and most impressive and important of all—performance itself.

With chassis and body a single unit, there are 330 fewer parts—175 pounds less weight—and an extremely low center of gravity.

The results are greater motor efficiency—increased power—quicker pick-up—reduced fuel consumption—greater stability and flexibility in relation to load—an easier car to handle—a faster car to drive!

Drive over cobbles and swart the usual discomfort—it will never occur! The Victory is the smoothest riding car, for its type, ever built.
